THE RACETRACK.

MAHER FIRST IN THREE CONTESTS.

A BETTER CARD AT BRIGHTON THAN ON

WEDNESDAY. Brighton's programme for yesterday was liberal in added money. For the second race $1,000 was added, for the third a sufficient amount was added make the value of the Montauk Stakes $3,000, and Cove Handicap $1,200 was added. These figures show that the policy of the Brighton management is generous, but in many instances ungrateful owners, trainers and jockeys do not re-spond as they ought to do to the considerate action of the association. The news that John Kelly was sed sincere and general sorrow at honorable racing men were attached dead caused sincere and general sorrow at the track. All honorable racing men were attached and devoted friends of John Kelly. On the turf and elsewhere he was exceedingly popular. He was not only esteemed and admired, but he was heartily beloved. The list of John Kelly's friends among turfmen and among well known Americans of all classes is a long one. He was one of the most liberal, kind hearted, umassuming, cordial, sympathetic and noble natured of the mighty army of the citizens of New-York. His death leaves a gap on the turf and in the life of the greatest of American cities which no one else can ever fill.

The weather was favorable to sport and the attendance was fair, but the track had not dried out from the deluge of the thunderstorm of Wednesday. Perhaps Maher was stimulated to exert himself by the tempest of criticism and censure which has been burled upon him recently. He rode better in three races than he had been riding of late, and won the last three contests on Lackland, Dan Rice and Belle of Holmdel. All three were well backed. Taral did not gain any laurels. He had the mount on the favorite, Stuart, in the Montauk Stakes, but was defeated by Plucky. In his last previous race Plucky was ridden by Clay and was unplaced. Plucky is owned by the Regina Stable. It is reported that the stable management was not pleased ported that the stable management was not pleased with Clay's riding, and sent to Detroit for E. Lewis, With H. Lewis up Plucky was easily successful, but Taral's riding of Stuart was by no means brilliant.

cessful, but Tarai's rights of Statements brilliant.

On August 1 Maher rode Bannockburn in flat, tame style, and The Devil ran first, while Bannockburn was second. Yesterday Turner was summoned from Saratoga to ride Bannockburn, while Maher had the mount on Latson. Turner rode Bannockburn with skill, care and force, strikingly superior to the riding of Maher on August 1, and Bannockburn was first, with Latson in second place. Here are the summaries:

RACING AT SARATOGA. HORSES SCRATCHED.

Saratoga, A. 3.—Yesterday's rains made the track heavy today, and the promise of good sport was only half fulfilled, as scratches were numerous. Lady Lindsey and Swiftmas made a sporty finish in the Kearney Stakes, the latter catching the filly on the post. Three of the five named as starters declined to race, and Clonsilla, Acushia, Little Saint and Tragedian were added. Little Saint was an even money favorite. He got off badly and did not re-deem himself. Jerry Hunt carried the bulk of the public's money in the first race, but Meddlesome lived up to his reputation and made a runaway race of it, Lightning Express chasing him in. Batten in the second race was a hot favorite and beat Charentus in hollow style. Big Gun was played for the fourth race, but Hansborough, at 10 to 1, had a surprise in store for the crowd. He had no trouble in disposing of Barney F. Cathedral, another good shot, won the fifth race. Athamas, the favorite, had to work to beat Mariti for the place. The Kearney Stakes were worth $2,000 to the winner. The summary follows: race of it, Lightning Express chasing him in.

ONLY TWO CONTESTS AT CLEVELAND OWING TO RAIN.

Columbus, Ohic, Aug. 3.-Racing in the mud was the feature of the Grand Circuit meeting to-day, After three heats had been run, a heavy thunder shower came up and drenched the track. The horses could not get within twenty feet of the pole on the home stretch, and with the big fields it was not easy to get the horses off. The last four certain Ananias would win. The first heat was paced before the rain, and there was not one of the League of American Wheelmen Racing Board horses in the big field that could push Ananias. Charl: B. followed Ananias down the stretch ahead of the bunch, and finished second by two engine. The judges thought James had not driven Charlie B. out, and the gelding was set back to Charlie B. out, and the gelding was net not griven twelfth place after finishing second.

LAWN TENNIS.

MUCH FOR "BOB" HUNTINGTON.

J. D. PELL UNABLE TO REPEAT HIS VICTORY OF WEDNESDAY-THE LARNED BROTHERS

DEFEATED IN THE DOUBLES. Southampton, N. Y., Aug. 3 (Special).-The grounds of the Meadow Club reminded one of a three ringed circus this morning, and the large number of spectators present had some difficulty in keeping all the lawn tennis stars in view at

In the first part of the morning there was a strong breeze that swept over the courts by the sea, and bothered to some extent the players who were engaged in the second round of the Long Island lawn tennis championships. By noon the wind died out, and the matches were all finished in a burst of brilliant play.

The largest gathering of spectators early took places of vantage about the court on which "Mac" Whitman, the National champion, and the veteran player, "Bob" Huntington, were engaged in struggling for supremacy. It was a battle of the old and the new, and, although the more modern methods triumphed, Huntington was able to hold the big Harvard man and winner of a haif dozen titles by his accurate placing and speedy play. In several of the games the veteran won he allowed his opponent to score but one point against him. The rallies of both men were dashing, but the surprising thing was that Huntington was successful in his passing. The champion was not to be scored against by lobbing tactics, however, as he "killed" the ball every time by the prettiest kind of play. Every set Whitman pulled out by the use of his twist service, or return, and the erratic bounds of the ball proved too much for the veteran, who was also bothered by the variations of speed which the champion is fond of using when he is at the critical point of a match. The following score by sets shows how evenly the men played;

A HEART BREAKING MATCH.

Leo Ware, the ex-champion of Canada, played a natch of the heart breaking order with the fast Harvard player, Holcomb Ward. Ware is now much nearer his true form than he has been any previous time this season. He proved to be fast,, and when match, which lasted nearly four hours, was finished both players were badly used up. In the first set of this contest Ward took the lead and ran out the series at 6-4, although his opponent almost caught him by his volleying at the net. Each al-ternately won a set until 4-all was reached. It was in the last of the fourth and the deciding fifth sets that Ward made the most desperate effort to check his opponent's progress. Three times in the fourth set and five times in the fifth Ward was within one stroke of the match, but Ware played unable to pass him or make any impression by his derrife drives. What looked for a time like a repethe onlookers on the tiptoe of excitement all through the match between the Yale champion. J. A. Allen, and J. D. THE WENTWORTH TOURNAMENT. PARET DEFEATS BOND IN THE FIRST ROUND OF Hotel Wentworth, Newcastle, N. H., Aug. 3 (Spe-

was continued here again to-day on the hotel courts before a large and enthusiastic crowd. Only one match was played in the singles, as that re-duced this event to the semi-final rounds. Howver, this one lasted almost all the morning, and furnished excitement enough for a day, J. P. Paret, the New-York expert, met W. S. Bond, of 'hicago, one of the best of the Western cracks, and defeated him after an exciting struggle. In the and kept shead until 5-3 had been reached. Then the Westerner pulled himself together and crawled the Westerner pulled himself together and crawled up even at 5-all. A long deuce and vantage struggle followed, the New-Yorker keeping the lead most of the time. At 10-9 Paret had a chance to win the set with a single stroke, but Bond made a lucky let hall strike, and finally pulled out the set by 12-10. In the second set Paret began to play faster. His service was more difficult to handle, while Bond seemed to slow up a little, and Paret repeatedly drove the balls past him at the net. The New-Yorker set a great pace after 2-all had been called, and ran out the set by 6-2. The third set was much like the second, Paret leading all through and finally winning out by the same score. In the semi-finals to-morrow Fischer plays Wright and Paret meets Budlons. The semi-finals in doubles will also be played to-morrow, and both finals on Saturday. The day's scores follow:

OPEN TOURNAMENT AT ONWENTSIA. The Onwentsia links, the scene of the recent ama-

The chief trophy is the Raylnoaks Cup, offered to amateurs who played their first game in this country, and which was won by Herbert Harriman, the present champion. won by Herbert Harriman, the present champion, in the tournament there two years ago, and is now held by William M. THE NEW METHODS OF WHITMAN TOO THE DEVON-MYOPIA CONTEST BRISTLED WITH EXCITING INCIDENTS.

> THE LATTER PULLED OUT A VICTORY IN THE END BY A NARROW MARGIN.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.] Narragansett Pier, Aug. 3.-With the exception of a little dalliance on the part of the Devonians at the opening, the game to-day between the fire teams of the Myopia and Devon clubs fairly bristled with exciting episodes, and was accepted by the ex-perts as one of the finest on record, the score, with handicap allowance to Devon, being about even at the end of the first and second periods, 75/2 to 9 when the third bout closed, and Myopia 10, Devon 914 when the final gong sounded. Agassiz, the scintillating gem of the Myopian delegation, clinched the bargain, as he did July 26, by tipping the ball across the border in the over time, and thus preventing his ponents from increasing their score. Baldwin, the Meadow Brook player, having re-sorted to a similar feint this week, the enthusiasts who deem such tactics unsportsmanlike are asking why the rule permitting the players to continue to a knock out or goal after the last bell rings should not be changed. It gives the team having half or a full goal to the good an unfair advantage as soon as the bell signifies time up, for it is much easier to knock a ball over the line than to force it the full length of the field and through the goal posts. As they lined up before Referee R. L. Beekman the teams to-day were as follows: Devon (pink)-C. R. Snowden, 5; G. W. Kendrick, 3d, 6; Charles Wheeler, 8; George McFadden, 5; aggregate handicap. 22. Myopia (blue and white)—C. G. Rice. 4; R. G. Shaw. 2d, 8; R. L. Agassiz, 8; H. H. Holmes, 6; aggregate handicap, 26.

The Myoplans were alive to the fact that they had a large contract on their hands through alowing the Devonians four goals, and so they put their cattle at a racing clip throughout the first period, in the hope of demoralizing the gentlemen in pink. While they did not quite accomplish this, they did, however, succeed in placing the differ-ence in handicap behind them, for Shaw scored in a minute and a half, Rice next did the trick in fifteen seconds, and Shaw again assailed the Devonian barricade twice more with success, against a single goal registered by Kendrick, and a loss of a quarter each against McFadden and Wheeler for safety tipping.

All this put the local sports in good humor, and during the remainder of the game they waxed jubilant as the success of their favorites became assured. But the blues had to fight for every goal they made, and had Snowden got his "direction" earlier than he did, the jubilee might easily have been all on the other side of the judges' stand, where the Pennsylvania contingent as-

It was in the second period that the fur began to fly, for the players had scarcely got lined out in full career before Wheeler's mailet got between the front legs of his pony, and the outfit went down with a crash, the pony rolling over its rider, who sustained a slight scratch in the head with a stirrup iron. This was bad luck, but as you canno stop a good polo player until you carry him off the field. Wheeler did not keep the crowd waiting long. and after he got settled down to business again showed himself in his old form by saving a goal neatly, and then keeping his position throughout seven minutes' hard play. This bout was most scientific after Wheeler struck in. Agassiz backed his ball while Shaw waited. Then Rice turned detherately and put it in a good spot, but his colleagues rode over it, Snowden and Kendrick reaching short as they came by, and Wheeler clipping out where Rice carried the centre.

to take along, but Holmes as good as crossed just to the house border gave Kendrick a good show ipped lightly, and Snowden hit the atmosphere

Opposite the house Rics missed an easy shot, twing Kendrick the chance he was waiting for gasslz was now playing in gallant style, and a and Wheeler exchanged two smart back handers. Shaw was by this time playing recklessly, and jumped around in front of more than one possing player, but the referee failed to see it, o no fines were inflicted. His tricks availed him onling, however, for he put the ball at too sharp in angle and sent it past the posts. Then the ball ing while all cantered around it in pairs, Wheeler itimately passing it to Kendrick, who "babled" he ball a moment for a drive west. McFadden he went through to quarter fleid with it, and nowden put it between the Myopian uprights for a tuesle that was a regular scoreher.

McFadden's sky shot was next the feature of lay, he steering away from Agassiz as the latter ainly tried to pass him. Shaw saved what looked after a justle that was a regular scorcher.

McFadden's sky shot was next the feature of play, he steering away from Agassiz as the latter vainly tried to pass him. Shaw saved what looked like a sure goal after a sertimmage on the border, but, again, he seemed to foul an opponent on the northern border, after Agassiz had wasted his energy on the devert air. As the pairs raced west Rice kept off his man in good style and Holmes back well. As it came by the pavilion Snowden and McFadden rode together, then Rice placed it handy for the Red men. But Shaw hipped in nearly and "lofted" the ball over the boundary. Kendrick's ride out against Agassiz was next in order, and the crowd worked up to a high pitch of enthusiasm. But luck was against the clever Devonians, for at his next stroke the ball hit his own pony's front hoof, Rice turning quickly for a drive to Agassiz's clever mallet, his swift pony carrying him like a meteor. But it was all useless, and after the return drive Shaw was out of it, as his mallet needed fixing.

The third period was vastly in favor of the Myopians, Agassiz scoring in a minute and a half, Rice in sixty seconds and Shaw before five minutes had clapsed, the latter making his goal after a remarkable reach over his pony's neck, the stroke being the signal for uproarious applause. Snowden's goal was equally exciting, for after two light tips in midfield he sizzled it west, with a long swing mallet, fifteen seconds only being registered by the timekeepers. Agassiz's pretty turn and clever carry next engaged attention, he coming through and clipping it along after Holmes and Kendrick had "fanned the air" alternately. Snowden was the here a few moments later, for he got the ball sawing through the air eastward and into the ball sailing through the air eastward and into the ball sailing through the air eastward and enter the ball sailing through the air eastward and enter he ball sailing through the air eastward and into the Myopia residence, to a cheer that made even the ponies wonder.

UNUSUAL ACTIVITY AMONG THE PROFES. SIONALS-LOW AND ANDERSON CHALLENGE DUNN AND HURD.

With the approach of the open golf championship the professionals are beginning to bestir them-Within the last week a number of challenges have been made by men who expect to enter been followed up by large money wagers. Just now George Low, of Dyker Meadow, and "Willie" Anderson, of Bakusrol, are trying to arrange a match for $500 with "Willie" Dunn, the open champion in 1894, and Fred Hurd, the present champion, and if successful, the meeting will probably take place at the time of the Baltimore tournament, though both Low and Anderson would be satisfied to have it take place on any links that both might agree upon, As the Baltimore affair will last only two days, it may be difficult for the men to meet at that time, but Low is of the opinion that the plan could be successfully carried out by having the championship scores count in this match also.

At present Low is hobbling with crutches to a severe attack of rheumatism, but he has no fear that he will not be able to play his old game by the time the tournament comes off. His match with R. B. Wilson, the Deal Beach professional with R. B. Wilson, the Deal Beach professional, which it will be remembered was postponed on account of this disability, has now been definitely arranged, and the first half will take place on August 17 at Deal Reach, and the second half a week later at Dyker Meadow. It is reported that each man has put up $50 on the result, the purse to be taken by the winner.

"Dave" Hunter, the Oakland professional, is also out with a challenge for "Willie" Anderson, of Baltusrol, and according to the latter it will be eagerly accepted as soon as definite conditions are made. Hunter and Anderson figured in the recent home and home four ball match, in which the former had Travis as partner and the latter was paired with Tyng, but now the "pros" are anxious to dispense with their amateur partners, and to fight it out alone. In all probability a meeting will be arranged within the next fortnight.

All this indicates that the professionals are beginning to assume a more important place in the sport, and there are rumors that some of the more prominent are considering the advisability of organizing a National league, similar in character to the United States Golf Association, which is at present composed only of amateurs. Such a league would do much to foster a more general interchange of visits and would react in favor of the methods of play, or at least afford an opportunity of watching good golf, which is sometimes an early and the second of the sometimes an early of watching good golf, which is sometimes an early of watching good golf, which is sometimes an early of watching good golf, which is sometimes an early of watching good golf, which is sometimes an early of watching good golf, which is sometimes an early of watching good golf, which is sometimes an early of watching good golf.
